

S&T Training Centre, Podanur

S&T training centre, Podanur dedicated to Indian Railways in the year 1960 to impart technical training to group C&D staff of S&T department. It was functioning under the head of a Senior Instructor till 16.09.1983 and was functioning in an existing building till 01.04.1985. The present new building was inaugurated on 11.04.1985. It is a fully equipped and self contained training centre, having 6 lecture halls having Capacity of 30 trainees each for conducting theory classes and 8 laboratories for practical classes. A seminar hall with capacity to accommodate 60 trainees is provided with PA system and LCD projector.

This training centre is an ISO 9001-2008 certified unit.

The training centre is equipped with training models of all types of Signaling and Telecommunication equipments which are used in Southern and South Western Railway.

